Projects

Crypto Goals Tracker – Application to track and calculate cryptocurrencies projected and historical data using Vue.js. Planning to employ GraphQL, MongoDB, and Nuxt.js. Goal is to authenticate users, track types of coins, graph and project value of coins. Use historical data for predictive analytics of future values.

Vending Machine CLI – Created a command-line interface vending machine application using Java and logged sales to a file. Leveraged JUnit to test the project.

TENmo (A Venmo Clone) – Designed and co-developed a peer-to-peer pseudo-currency transfer command line application utilizing RESTful API, PostgreSQL database, and Java. Users are able to send, request, and approve transfers.

House Planner – Vue.js frontend application with a Java backend. House planner that allows you to select the most common options when building a house and displays approximate cost according to an external API's information. Coded login, registration, and requirements for passwords on a 4-person virtual team. Contributed to front-end design and back-end logic.
